TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

This is to certify that the Middle East Technical University (METU) has successful supported the UKRI GCRF funded project titled "Tomorrow's Cities" Disaster Hub, under the coordination of University of Edinburgh, UK and by Prof. John Mc Closkey, Prof. Mark Pelling, and Prof. Hugh Sinclair. The Tomorrow's Cities project commenced in September 2019 and came to an official closure in October 2024.

Prof. Dr. F. Umut Beşpinar has been the Project Coordinator from METU, who are one the project's research partners from Turkey. Prof. Dr. Sibel Kalaycioglu, Dr. Esra Demirkol, and Mehmet Kalaycioglu were the researchers from METU, who supported the delivery of various work packages. The project coordinator and the researchers performed their tasks as required and their project work was successfully completed by the official closure of Tomorrow's Cities.

METU completed the service as described in the contract agreement, scope of work, and deliverables. All terms and conditions were duly fulfilled as stated in the agreement.

We express the above at the request of METU.

Best Regards,

Professor Mark Pelling
Director of Urban Disaster Risk Hub

Professor Hugh Sinclair
PI of Urban Disaster Risk Hub
